

Promotional Biographies:

Short Promo Bio 1:

With their debut single “All Trucks Go To Heaven” rapidly climbing the Billboard charts, BOOMTOWN SAINTS is country music’s next “it” duo. They are bringing their ultra-high energy live show to [insert venue or town here] on [insert date here].

Short Promo Bio 2:

Warner Music Group & 8 Track Entertainment recording artist BOOMTOWN SAINTS knows how to bring the party and entertain the fans. Known for their high energy shows that feature elite musicianship and precise multi-part harmonies, this is an event you do not want to miss.

Mid-length Bio:

With their debut single "All Trucks Go To Heaven" achieving critical acclaim and rapidly climbing the Billboard chart, 8 Track Entertainment and Warner Music Group recording artist BOOMTOWN SAINTS is the next "it" duo in country music.

BOOMTOWN SAINTS has developed a reputation across North America for their high energy live shows and have drawn comparisons to the likes of Brooks and Dunn, Big and Rich, and Montgomery Gentry. Fans never forget their first BOOMTOWN SAINTS concert, and neither will you.

With the release of All Trucks Go To Heaven, you can catch the duo on the road supporting the release of their upcoming EP and experience a BOOMTOWN SAINTS party for yourself. It's an experience you don't want to miss.

Full Bio:

BoomTown Saints knows how to bring the party and entertain the fans. Their innovative artistry, elite musicianship, and precise multi-part harmonies makes their high-energy show exceptional from the very first song. Their brand of southern rock/rocking country continues to resonate with a growing fan base as they crisscross the country entertaining audiences nationwide.

Signed to Muscle Shoals-based 8 Track Entertainment, BoomTown Saints is composed of Chris Ramos and Ben Chism. The fusion of Chris' energetic stage presence and broad vocal range with Ben's smooth voice and distinguishable southern drawl yields an undeniable charisma between the two. Consummate entertainers and true road warriors, they have honed their live performance skills playing clubs, frat houses and festivals with the number one objective being "for people to have fun."

Talented songwriters, singers and musicians, BoomTown Saints is poised to release their debut single on 8 Track Entertainment, "All Trucks Go To Heaven," in the summer of 2022. "All Trucks Go To Heaven," a love song rooted in real life, connects at an emotional level. The song was penned by hit songwriters Jeremy Bussey, Taylor Phillips and Benjamin Stennis.

Chris and Ben's paths first crossed at a gig when they were both performing as solo artists. An immediate synergy between the two quickly developed and led to the formation of BoomTown Saints in 2018. Both proud "girl dads," the two initially pursued careers outside of music -- Chris, as a healthcare consultant climbing the corporate ladder in the pharmaceutical industry, and Ben, who was headed to medical school after graduating with a degree in Biology on a full academic and baseball scholarship. After Ben finished top 10 in the Southeast USA in a nationwide singing competition (Texaco Country Showdown), the tide turned and he decided to take "music over medicine." Likewise, after getting multiple cuts as a writer on albums ranging from pop, to country, to electronic music, Chris decided to pursue his dream in music and form a band. Like they say, the rest is history.

A multi-instrumentalist by the time he was 10 years old, Chris mainly plays piano and guitar while Ben mostly plays acoustic guitar. "Boyz II Men and Brian McKnight have always been my favorite two artists," commented Chris. "I was raised around a lot of blues and jazz, so moving toward the R&B side of music was a fairly natural step. Anybody who hears me play even country songs on an acoustic while singing alone will hear those influences come through." Ben added, "I've always loved Kenny Chesney, Garth Brooks, Brooks and Dunn, Eric Church, Jason Aldean and Luke Bryan. I've always wanted to be an entertainer like these guys. they have a way of bringing you into the show on the first note.